WHY SUFFER FOR "BOOZE" WHEN YOU CAN DO WITHOUT IT?

A Prominent Newspaper Man and Politician Tells How He Is Going to "Spite the Lid."

In Ten (10) Days He Will Forever Lose His Desire for Alcoholic Stimulants - In the Meantime He Is Told to Drink All the Whiskey He Wants -He Won't Have to Go to an "Institute" or Inebriate Asylum, Either.

It is now possible to have your thirst for beeze permanently and pleasantly re-moved without publicity or having to go to an "institute" or an inebriate asylum, and this is becoming quite the proper thing to do, as many of the foremost men of the country are adopting this easy and soontille method of evercoming an otherwise damaging, troublesome and uncontrollable possion and necessity for alcoholic or drug stimulation. stimulation.

A few days ago the press announced the fact that the James Sanatorium, the largest and most successful institution in the world for the cure of drunkenness and drug addictions, had established branch offices at Suite No. 22 Missouri Trust building, this city, where they will treat drunkenness and drug addictions along scientific

Other than the fact that this famous iretitution positively and almost miraculously cures brunkenness and Brug addictions, little was known of how this was accomplished until vesterday, when the editor and owner of a prominent newspaper declared his purpose to go through the treatment personally and to let the world know the result. Immediately on operating offices here this treatment gathed a high professional standing by laviting local physicians to lend the treatment their co-operation, and as a result vesterday a prominent St. Louis physician, who enloys a personal acquisitation with the Medical Director of this great and noble enterprise, advised this newspaper man to take the James Tovatment, pronouncing it the only scientific and rational way to save himself from the ravesces of whiskey.

Owing to this again's prominence and the fact that the James officials absolutely reliase to give any publicity to matters sectaining to their patients, this gentleman's name is withheld. He promises that when he has completed treatment he will tell the world not only the story of his dissipation, but how his cure was accomplished. All this will be told in the colourns of this paper over his own signature.

In the customer the treatment to a party of friends yesterday, he said: "I know whiskey has got me, and I am determined to break away—no quitting process for methiat samply means taking away a powerful stimulant without an adequate substitute of support, which means that you will wreek yourself mentally and physically. I was surprised this morning when I went into the James offices, in the Missouri Trust building, and told them I was there for treatment, that they didn't bustle me off to some hospital or sanatorium. Instead of this the examining physician said to me: Board at any horely you want to; drink all the whiskey or beer you want to, but come here three times a day for treatment.

I suspected that he intended to control my appetite for whiskey hy nausenting me. I dreaded this, and asked him the question, and very much to my relief, he replied that that kind of practice was all quackery; that I would soon feel so strong and cheerful that I would not need a drink or other artificial stimulation, and that in a few days I would not take a drink of other artificial stimulation, and that in a few days I would not take a drink or other artificial stimulation, and that in a few days I would not take a drink or other artificial stimulation, and that in a few days I would not take a drink or other artificial stimulation, and that in a few days I would not take a drink or other artificial stimulation.

Physicians pronounced his trouble an abscess of the stomach, which will necessitate an operation. This is unfortunate just at the height of the horse show season. Doctor Gray will enter the hospital at once. His physicians seem to think they can bring him around within ten days.

Doctor Gray is possibly the best-known man in America in connection with horse shows. He has done more to promote them than any other one man. RAILROADS CRISS-CROSS COCKRELL'S TEXAS RANCH.

REPUBLIC SPINTAL. Abilene, Tex., Sept. 23.—Prospective roads located in the Abilene country are concen-trating on the Cockrell ranch, fourteen miles north of Abilene. This ranch is on miles north of Abliene. This ranch is on the Brazos River and comprises 7,000 acres, it is owned by Francis M. Cockrell of Misseuri and his prother, Judge J. V. Cockrell of Abliene.

The Air Line Railroad has forced the Colorado, Texas and Mexico to build in the shape of a diamond, making Merkel and Cedar Gap, Cochnill and Abliene points in its road.

Should all the lines build as projected. Abliene will have five lines of road, including the Texas and Pacific.

It is considered quite a coincidence that all the lines above should center upon the Cockrell ranch, and that all should commence to build about the same time.

Legality of Third Wife's Marriage Raises Legal Snarl in Woman's Suit for $2,000 Insurance—Case Withdrawn Temporarily,

Whether a decree of divorce can be granted to a dead man is the legal snarl that has caused the withdrawal, by mutual agreement, of Mrs. Mary Kaemmerer's suit against the Modern Woodmen for $2.600, the amount of a life isurance relies. policy carried by her husband, Hartmann Kaemmerer, who died a year ago. The question has puzzled the lawyers of East St. Louis. The muddle was discovered in the trial of an interpleader brought by Miss Dora Kaemmerer, the oldest of Kaemmerer's six children by his first wife.

Kaemmerer's six children by his first wife.

The principal question was as to the legality of the marriage of Mrs. Kaemmerer's third wife. He was divorced from his second wife, but had not secured a decree. To legalize the marriage to the third wife it will be necessary, attorneys say, for City Court Judge M. W. Moyers to grant a decree of divorce from an absentee to a dead man. Whether this can be done has raised another question that was argued yesterday Judge M. W. Moyers to grant a decree of divorce from an absentee to a dead man. Whether this can be done has raised another question that was argued yesterday at considerable length.

Twenty years ago Kaemmerer married for the first time. Shortly after his marriage he took out a life-insurance policy for $2,000 in favor of his wife, Katherine, She died seven years ago, leaving him six children. A year later he married Miss Pinkey Laid, who after living with him for a year, deserted him, it is alleged. He sued her for divorce, alleging desertion. During the said it is said that he received a letter from her, announcing the birth of a child. The divorce was grantes, but Kaemmerer did not get a decree.

In October, 1825, Kaemmerer met Mrs. Mary McKee, who had just secured a divorce from her husband. They were married. One child was born to them. After the marriage Kaemmerer took out a life insurance policy for $1,000 in her favor. It is alleged by Miss Dora, the cldest of six children by Kaemmerer's first wife, that he intended that the life insurance he took out in her favor should be divided among the six children, and, it is alleged, he made this statement to one of the insurance collectors.

Miss Dora, acting for the children, objected to the $2,000 life insurance being paid to Mrs. Mary Kaemmerer. A suit was brought by Mrs. Mary Kaemmerer and the six children, represented by Miss Dora, sued on an interpleader, which was tried yesterday. It was necessary to show the successive marriages of Kaemmerer and also proof of his death.

During the submission of this evidence it was discovered that he was never divorced from his second wife and that therefore, the narriage to the third wife is illegal unless it is possible for a decree to be issued to a dead man. If it is not the lawyers say that there is a question as to the right of Mrs. Mary Kaemmerer, the third wife is illegal unless it is possible for a decree to be issued to a dead man. If it is not the lawyers say that there is a question as to the right of Mrs.

the third wife, to receive the $1,000 life in surance which he took out for her es pecial benefit. pecial benefit.

This money, it is argued, he intended for his wife, and if he was not legally divorced from his second wife that she might file a claim against it.
